

How to Navigate Your Career in a Male-Dominated Field

2015 Seminar Series

Alumni Seminar: Dr. Kacie Louis Sr. Research Specialist at Akzo Nobel

October 13, 2015 at 9:30 am Room 1315

The success of women in STEM careers is strongly associated with the influence of good mentors throughout the different stages of life. Dr. Kacie Louis received her PhD in chemistry from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and is currently a Senior Research Chemist at Akzo Nobel Surface Chemistry, LLC. She will discuss the positive impact both male and female mentors have had on her throughout college, graduate school, and now in her current position in industry. From these experiences, Dr. Louis will highlight ways in which people can be mentors to further promote and empower women in sciences. She will also discuss her successful transition from graduate school to her current position.

Refreshments will be provided at 9:00 am.

Next Seminar: Chief Susan Riseling, UW-Madison Police Dept.
